Attorney General Daniel Cameron Subject of Impeachment Petition Filed by Breonna Taylor Grand Jurors and Other Concerned Citizens

Today concerned Kentucky citizens filed a “Verified Affidavit and Petition for Impeachment” against Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron.

Among the concerned citizens bringing this matter to the legislature are three former Grand Jurors from the Breonna Taylor case (note that their counsel signed for them to protect their identities).

Attorney General Cameron is charged with:

- Incitement of insurrection (for financing, directing, and/or permitting radical robocalls that flooded the United States Capitol with rioters on January 6, 2021)
- Breach of public trust and failure to comply with duties for misrepresenting to the nation the findings of the Grand Jury
- Abuse of office and breach of duties of professional responsibility and ethics

The Impeachment Petitioners seek immediate review by the Impeachment Committee already established by the House. The concerned citizens demand that Cameron be disqualified from holding office of honor, trust or profit in this Commonwealth, and that all costs be charged to him. Petition, p. 6.

“The Grand Jurors did not choose this battle,” said counsel Kevin Glogower. “This battle chose them. These are randomly selected citizens who were compelled to sit on a grand jury and were terribly misused by the most powerful law enforcement official in Kentucky. It is truly a testament to the Kentucky Constitution that they are able to be here today and to expose injustice and demand public accountability. I am honored and humbled to serve them.”
