

ALABAMA

Rest area information: Restrooms are open at rest areas and welcome centers across the state. Staff cleans and sanitizes the most-used areas such as door handles, counters, faucets and toilets. Deep cleanings are performed on the restrooms as needed. A phone number is posted at rest areas and welcome centers for travelers to call if they need assistance.

Travel information: Alabama is under an official statewide Safer at Home order. Tourist attractions are re-opening, but many festivals and events are being cancelled or rescheduled.

ALASKA

Rest area information: Rest stops remain open. They are cleaned two to three times a week. There are outhouses without running water that are not staffed, so be prepared with hand sanitizer whenever traveling through Alaska.

Travel information: Make sure to check the state's quarantine rules before you go. All persons entering the state must arrive with a negative COVID-19 PCR test taken within the last 72 hours and present results upon arrival. You can take a test when you arrive in the state and self-quarantine until the results arrive. Travelers can also choose to self-quarantine for 14 days or the duration of their trip.

ARIZONA

Rest area information: Rest areas remain open with elevated sanitary protocols. Arizona Department of Transportation is working with staff to keep the restrooms supplied. Staff is doing more frequent cleanings and regularly disinfecting frequently touched surfaces such as doors and handles, sinks and faucets. In addition to this, ADOT has temporarily reopened two rest areas, located along I-40 and I-17 respectively in northern Arizona, exclusively for commercial vehicles to use.

Travel information: There are no travel restrictions for visitors of the state, but the Arizona Department of Health Services asks travelers to follow certain guidelines like social distancing, wearing face coverings, etc.

ARKANSAS

Rest area information: Most rest stop areas remain open, specifically those that have parking for trucks. While welcome center lobbies are closed at this time, the restrooms at those facilities remain open and are cleaned regularly. This map is kept up to date showing closures of roads and facilities.

Travel information: All visitors are asked to follow healthy habits from the CDC such as; washing hands often, cough into your elbow or a tissue, etc.

CALIFORNIA

Rest area information: Rest stops where maintenance work is not scheduled to be performed are open and cleaned regularly. For travelers, the state says there are no restrictions entering California from bordering states. This map allows motorists and travelers to view traffic cameras and learn about current road conditions and locate rest areas.

Travel information: Physical distancing measures remain a priority and many parks, beaches, and retail operations are beginning to reopen, with restrictions. That said, a lot of tourist attractions and parks, like Yosemite National Park, remain closed.

COLORADO

Rest area information: Rest areas are open and operating normally, with some limited exceptions. Two areas that mirror each other on either side of I-25 just north of Pueblo have closed because the facilities lack running water, and travelers would not be able to wash their hands. Pueblo is nearby and offers many food and fuel options, so this should not disrupt people's needs excessively. Crews are keeping the facilities maintained and cleaned. Food trucks are being permitted to safely serve food at rest areas as well.

Travel information: Colorado is now in the Safer at Home in the “Vast, Great Outdoors Phase”, which allows Coloradans and others to recreate in our state’s great outdoors while maintaining a sustainable level of physical distancing.
