Good morning,

Here is the letter for the court for Tyree Reynolds. I was working with his family to get this done.

Your Honor,

My name is Tyree Reynolds. When we first met, I was just 18 years old. Now, at 22, I've had time to reflect deeply on the choices I made and the path I was on. Over these past years, I've come to understand the consequences of my actions not just legally, but personally and emotionally.

At the time, I didn't fully understand why I made the decisions I did. But being in prison forced me into survival mode, surrounded by people and situations that made me see life differently. It was during this journey that I learned valuable life lessons. I've grown in my ability to problem-solve, I've matured, and I've come to understand the importance of following through in a positive and constructive way.

I regret the decisions that led me here, and I've made a promise to myself: to grow, to change, and to never go back to that life. I'm working every day to become someone I can be proud of myself someone my family and community can be proud of. I know I still have a long way to go, but I'm committed to doing the work.

I respectfully ask the court to consider that the time I've served has helped me become a more productive and thoughtful person. I am ready to transition back home and show, through my actions, that I've learned from my mistakes. I want to focus on lining up resources such as employment, continuing to work with my mentor, and staying connected to my community to support my success.

I am asking for a second chance to prove to myself and to the court that I have changed. I sincerely ask the court to consider this request and allow me the opportunity to move forward in a positive direction.

Thank you for your time and for allowing me to speak.

Respectfully,
Tyree Reynolds
